

The Jesus Studies | Jesus And Your Image

Today's teenagers are brand managers. And they are the brand. With every selfie, every Instagram post, every tweet, they shape how they are perceived. For better or worse, they are extremely image conscious. This isn't necessarily a bad thing. But what does this idea of image control have to do with being a Christ-follower? Good thing Jesus had a ton to say about this.

Jesus and Your Image will help you teach your students that "denying themselves" means their image is to be driven more by who God is and less by who they are; that they don't have to hide their brokenness from God or the world; that no matter how they try and control how they are perceived, they are ultimately known by their actions; and that it's a mistake to let their concern for their image, get in the way of their devotion to Jesus.

Teach Jesus and Your Image to your students and help them project a Christ-centered image to the world.

Jesus And Your Image* Lesson Overviews

Lesson 1: Image Is Everything

- Learning Objective: Students will learn that "denying ourselves" means our image is to be driven more by who God is and less by who we are; and will be challenged to step back and evaluate the image they present to the world and whether it's focused more on them or on Christ.
- Scripture Focus: Mark 8:34-38

Lesson 2: Broken

- Learning Objective: Students will learn that they don't have to hide their brokenness from God or the world; and will be challenged to express to God where they are most broken, and where they need His presence the most.
- Scripture Focus: Luke 18:35-43

Lesson 3: You Are What You Do

- Learning Objective: Students will learn that they are ultimately known by their actions; they can try to control their image, but their actions say a great deal to the world, and to God, about who they really are; and will be challenged to evaluate any areas of their lives where their actions don't line up with their professed identity as a Christ-follower.
- Scripture Focus: Luke 6:43-45

Lesson 4: Fearless

- Learning Objective: Students will learn that it's a mistake to let their concern for their image, and what people think about them, get in the way of their devotion to Jesus; and will be challenged to recommit to living a bold faith for God regardless of how they may look to the world around them.
- Scripture Focus: Luke 7:36-50
